

Destination Sky

From the album MMX (2010)

Ok, working day begins,
on this line you never know when you are done.
We follow the tracks in the sky,
on to the souls we need.

All tune in, we're in the air,
open your minds before we leave,
catch this moment right on,
to light up your fantasy.

From eternity to here and now.
We're passing by to leave you all your dreams.
The only price you will have to pay,
is struggle to make them all come true.

*Time happens to be a friend,
while you travel the "Idea Line".
I sow the seeds of history.
What are we waiting for?
I do what I think I should,
but the mission is undefined.
Some may create, some may destroy.*

In the end it's up to them.

Now, there are two sides to a coin.
But, whatever the result might ever be.
I just leave it up to their own free will
The choice is theirs to make.

But hey, I'm only the messenger!
Delivering a bunch of great ideas.
Not knowing whether for good or bad.
It's humans, don't put the blame on me.

(chorus)

It's all I'm living for Days will pass and seasons turn, while I'm here up high

I feed the needs of human beings, all of my life.
Cross the lines of time and space, All of my life.

When I've seen 'bout everything, I think I will retire.
And buy a house right down on earth, to have my own place.
I'll figure out humanity, the rest of my days.

